

To download this file, simply select "SAVE AS" from the "FILE" menu in your browser and follow the instructions.

The Brewing Storm

September 30, 2009

Charles E. Newbold, Jr.

A cloud is brewing in the eastern sky. It is gradually getting larger and looms more dangerous daily. It feeds upon itself and therefore is increasing on an exponential curve. Thunder and lightening within it is increasing in intensity because of the conflict between heated and cold heads. They collide one against the other.

This enormous cloud is slowly, but surely drifting eastward and billowing westward as well. It has not fully reached America yet. It will never completely cover this land, but there will be isolated storms and fallouts from it for a season.

There is no stopping it. It will do what it is supposed to do. It will accomplish My end-time purposes. For all these things must happen.

The embellishing cloud is Islam and the terror that has always been integrated in it. There is no such thing as "peaceful Islam." Even for those who live within its boundaries, there is no real peace because they do not know Me, the Prince of Peace.

As far as preparing for this impending storm, look again to My words in the scripture (Matt. 24) and what I told My disciples to look for and how to prepare for it. Nothing has changed. The main principle always to live by is this: Seek first My Kingdom and all good things will come to you.

Do not seek self or the things for self-preservation. Seek Me and I shall be found. I AM that I AM. I am your provider, your protector, and your physician. I am your all in all.

Do not fear, My little ones. I, your Heavenly Father, will look after you.

Psalm 91: 5-7 (whole chapter)